FAQs

How does the Co-op differ from the grocery store?

Standards for high quality products. Moonflower is highly selective in the food we carry. Example: nothing in the store has corn syrup or hydrogenated vegetable oil. Staff is also highly knowledgeable and available.

Can anyone shop at the Co-op?

Yes, but we encourage people to become Owners.

Do I save money by becoming an Owner?

Yes. Owners receive a quarterly 10% discount, redeemable anytime on a sale of any amount; monthly sales for Owners only; reduced markup on special orders; and a purchase based annual dividend, if store earnings are sufficient.

Do I have to live in Moab to be an Owner?

No, anyone can become an Owner.

Do I have to volunteer at the coop to be an Owner? No.

Who controls the Co-op?

Its Owners through their election of the Board of Directors.

How does becoming an Owner help the community?

It stabilizes the business by ensuring that our donation budget remains consistent.

How much does it cost to join? What are the details?

$100, which can be paid up-front or in installments. Members can be an individual, a head of household, or a business.

What are my responsibilities as an Owner?

Stay current if you are on a payment plan and shop at the Co-op at least once a year.

What are my legal liabilities as an Owner?

None.

I want to be more involved in the Co-op than just being an Owner and shopper, how can I do that?

You can run for the Board of Directors, serve on committees, or volunteer for events.

How do I join?

Fill out the Ownership Application, located in this pamphlet and return to a cashier.

SUBSCRIPTION AGREEMENT & Application (on reverse side)

For the purpose of facilitating access to consumer goods and acquiring an ownership interest in Moonflower Community Cooperative, I hereby agree to pay one hundred dollars ($100.00). Such amount shall be payable as specified on the reverse side of this form.

The ownership interest hereby subscribed for is intended to confer the right to benefits available to owners and to participate in the governance of Moonflower Community Cooperative in accordance with the Bylaws of the Cooperative. The shares to be acquired hereby are entitled to no dividends and may not be sold, assigned or otherwise transferred. They are subject to assessment at a later time as may be required for the reasonable capital needs of the Cooperative. They will be redeemed by the Cooperative only upon termination of ownership, only from replacement capital provided by other owners, and only at their carrying value on the books of the Cooperative or their net book value, whichever is lesser. A reasonable processing fee for the termination transaction is also authorized to be imposed, as determined by the Board. These limitations and other terms and conditions are described in the Bylaws of Moonflower Community Cooperative. Funds expended for the purchase of shares are risk capital subject to the risks inherent in an enterprise of this character and may result in the loss of part or all of such funds.
